Safari incidents are rare but predictable. Never leave a vehicle in the bush without a guide, keep noise low near animals, and do not stand up in an open vehicle.

Roads inside the reserve are rough and dusty, and long rains turn tracks into mud. A 4x4 with a reputable driver is safer than a rushed minivan.

Health preparation matters more Go to the website than most travellers expect: malaria prophylaxis, yellow fever certificate if arriving from an endemic country, and travel insurance that covers evacuation. Follow guide instructions without debate, particularly around elephants and buffalo. Practical safety notes are at %LINK%.
