A honeymoon in the Mara usually pairs three or four safari nights with a beach finale. Diani, Watamu and Zanzibar are the common add-ons, with short masai mara luxury tented camp flights from Nairobi or Mombasa.

The safari half works best in a small conservancy camp with private dinners and a balloon flight. The beach half needs a resort that matches the pace you want after early game drives.

September five-star tented camp and February are the sweet spot for weather and value. December is busy and expensive. Plan the sequence carefully: safari first, beach second, because early mornings are easier before you decompress. Sample bush to beach itineraries are at %LINK%.
