Roulette CS2 is a digital gaming mini-game used by a handful of third-party platforms that accept CS2 skins (or "tokens" derived from them) as stakes. Gamers place their skins on a virtual roulette table, select a colour or a specific number, and watch a wheel spin in genuine time. The outcome is determined by a provably-fair algorithm that mirrors the 0-38 (European) or 0-00-38 (American) layout of traditional roulette.

Feature	Standard Roulette	Roulette CS2
Betting systems	Money chips	CS2 skins, "skin-coins", or platform-specific tokens
Wheel layout	37 numbers (0-36)-- European; 38 numbers (0-36 + 00)-- American	Similar numeric design; sometimes a "skin-only" wheel that collapses numbers into colour groups
Outcome verification	Physical wheel, dealership oversight	Cryptographically signed server seed + client seed (provably-fair)
House edge	2.7% (European)/ 5.26% (American)	Varies-- normally 2%-- 4% depending on platform & bet type

The principle is easy, but the surrounding ecosystem is anything however. Since skins can be exchanged for real-world money on the Steam marketplace, a win on Roulette CS2 can equate into a concrete earnings-- or a loss that CS2 Roulette feels simply as genuine.

- Deposit Skins-- Using Steam's trade-offer system, the player sends out several skins to the website's bot. The bot quickly creates a "ticket" that represents each skin's market worth.
- Select a Bet Type-- Most platforms mirror the traditional roulette betting options:
 - Inside bets (single number, split, street, corner, six-line)-- high payment, low possibility.
 - Outdoors bets (red/black, odd/even, high/low, lots, columns)-- lower payout, greater likelihood.
- Set the Stake-- The player decides the number of "tokens" (each token = the financial value of a single deposited skin) to bet on each selected outcome.
- Spin the Wheel-- The website generates a server seed and shares its hash with the gamer; the player then supplies a customer seed. The combined seeds produce a random number that determines the winning slot.
