

The getting ready portion of a wedding day offers some of the most candid, unposed moments of the entire event, and Annie Paige Photography arrives early specifically to capture it. Details like <https://pixabay.com/users/57667568/> the dress, rings, and small moments among the bridal party often become some of the most cherished images in the final gallery. Arriving one to one and a half hours before the first scheduled event ensures nothing from this part of the day gets missed.

Annie Paige Photography | 59 State St, Portland, ME 04101 | (207) 841-4333

This early arrival has become standard practice across more than one hundred weddings photographed. Call (207) 841-4333 to build getting ready photography into your timeline.